Budget

Preparing your budget is the first step before settling on the French Riviera. At a minimum, plan a monthly budget of 800 €.

To have additional income, you can do a student job. Please note, French law authorizes students international workers to work a maximum of 21 hours per week.

<https://www.campusfrance.org/fr/preparer-budget-etudiant-France>

Official documents

Before leaving their home country, any foreign national wishing to study in France must obtain a long stay «Student» visa. You must apply to the French consular services in your country of residence. Nationals of the European Union, Andorra, Monaco, the Vatican, Switzerland, San Marino and Liechtenstein are exempt from the long-stay visa.

<https://www.enseignementsup-recherche.gouv.fr/cid20203/references-aux-textes-nationaux.html>

Before your departure, we advise you to take out health, travel and repatriation insurance. Other insurances will be necessary and mandatory to study in France : multi-risk home insurance (for rental contracts), civil liability (for academic registration and internships).

Some banks offer these services when you take out a bank card with them.

Once in France, after registering at the University, you will have access to French Social Security.

Medical consultations and pharmacies

In France you must choose a GP (médecin traitant): the GP provides patients with routine care and preventive treatment and sends them to a specialist if need be. The GP is your first port of call if you are ill.

- A consultation with a GP costs between 23 and 28 €, part of which is reimbursed by student Social Security.
- A consultation with a specialist costs between 25 and 90 €, part of which can be reimbursed.

Generally, in France, you have to make an appointment to see a doctor. Usually, you have to wait a few days to have an appointment with a general practitioner, sometimes several months for a specialist. But some doctors consult without an appointment (you must check beforehand).

Some medicines can be purchased directly at the pharmacy and others are only available on prescription.

A prescription is given by a doctor, and most of the time you will be reimbursed for the drugs (not all drugs are reimbursed or not fully reimbursed).

Paracetamol is available without prescription (for pain-relief or fever).

Dos & Donts

Greetings: when you enter a shop/coffee/bus, always greet people with 'Bonjour' or 'Bonsoir' (after 6pm). Say 'au revoir' (goodbye) when leaving. Don't forget to use 's'il vous plait' (please) and 'merci' (thank you). This applies to administrative emails as well.

To greet someone, you can do 'la bise'.

When you are invited, always bring something: flowers, chocolate or wine are common gifts.

Compost your ticket each time you get on the tram or bus.

Respect your neighborhood from 10 p.m.

Collect dog droppings from your pet or you will be fined.

Sort your waste in the various containers provided for this purpose.

When speaking French, do not use « tu » but « vous » instead, until the person offers to switch. It is more formal and respectful.

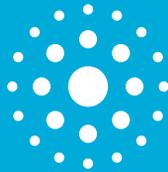

Do not start your meal before everyone gets their food – in France, eating is a serious matter.

Being noisy when eating or drinking is considered rude.

Tips are not mandatory, but you can leave some change if you were satisfied with the service.

Don't be disappointed if social relationships take longer to develop than expected. The French will not invite you to their homes right away; building a network is a bit more difficult but it pays to be patient: good things take time!

It is forbidden to walk around the city topless.
